BULL RIVER LODGE CABINS

Elk River Guiding Company wants to take you on a true Wilderness Fly Fishing Adventure. Come with us and find out why the Bull River and its tributaries are the epitome of dry fly fishing! While exploring this spectacular tributary of the Kootenay River, you will see why the Bull River is such an incredible place. This freestone, glacial fed, crystal blue river offers deep pools and some of the best native west slope cutthroat fishing in the Elk Valley.

Take in the stunning views of the Rocky Mountains in beautiful log cabins. In the Main Lodge enjoy rustic, yet refined household amenities. Enjoy home cooked meals after an exciting day of fly fishing on the river. Some amenities that are included at the lodge are, hot showers, 24 hour power, satellite television, as well as a beautiful fire place, where you, and your angling partners can relax and trade great fishing stories at the end of the day!

The angler's cabins are separate from the Main Lodge. These cozy cabins have separate rooms, and bunks with comfortable high density foam mattresses. Each cabin is also equipped with heaters powered by the latest in wood heat technology.

Join us on this incredible adventure for either 3 days of guided fly fishing, and 4 nights stay at the Bull River Lodge Cabins, or 2 days of guided fly fishing and 3 nights at the lodge. This trip is based on a minimum of 2 anglers and a maximum of 6. Come and get away from all the stresses in your life, and get lost in the incredible beauty, and simplicity that the Bull River has to offer.
